Tonight's Match: Tonight will mark the second meeting of the season between the two clubs. The two sides last met on May 20 at Sahlen's Stadium in a scoreless match.

The Rhinos bring an unbeaten home record (5-0-2) into tonight's game.

They are the only USL Pro club to claim that distinction. Over the last two seasons Rochester has gone 14-3-5 at home during league play. Orlando meanwhile, possesses the top road record in USL play going 7-1-2 away from home.

Orlando's offense has been difficult to contain this season, leading the league with 26 tallies. Forward Maxwell Griffin leads all USL Pro scorers with nine goals and 18 points this season. Defensively, Rochester, along with the Charlotte Eagles, have been the stingiest allowing a league best 12 goals against.

The Streak is Over: Rochester's Neal Kitson watched as an own goal was registered against the Rhinos on Friday night against Richmond. The goal snapped a personal streak of 335 consecutive minutes without allowing a goal in league play.

Getting Back to Form: Isaac Kissi scored his first goal of the season on Friday night. The Rhinos 2011 Offensive Player of the Year had missed the first 12 league games this season with a medical condition.

A Look at the Standings: The USL Pro schedule has begun to even out of late. The Rhinos lead the National Division with 27 points entering tonight's match. Harrisburg (24 pts) currently have one game in hand, while Los Angeles (19 pts) now have just two.

In the American Division, the Richmond Kickers, who began the season 6-0-1 have gone just 1-4-2 since then and now trail both the Charleston Battery, by one point, and Orlando by 11 points.

Next Match: Rochester will be in action again next Friday when they host FC New York at Sahlen's Stadium. The game will kickoff at 8:00 p.m.
